

International Scientific Conference

SUSTAINABLE GROWTH IN SMALL OPEN ECONOMIES

26th October, 2017, Belgrade, Serbia

CV Keynote speaker

Viola Larionova

Viola Larionova is Professor at Ural Federal University, Yekaterinburg, Sverdlovsk region, Russia.

Education

PhD in Physics and Mathematics

Scientific interests:

- Modelling of socio-economic systems and processes,
- Construction business management,
- Territories' development and valuation activities.

Career

- Head of Department of Economics and Management in Construction and Real Estate Development at Graduate School of Economics and Management (UrFU).
- Director of E-learning Department at Institute of Open Educational Technologies.

Research career:

- Author of more than 100 publications (3 monographs, 20 articles indexed in Scopus and Web and Science),

- Author of Master program “Management of Territories' Development ”,
- Author of the further professional education program “Business Evaluation”;
- Member of a scientific group of the project “Projection of optimal socio-economic systems in turbulence of external and internal environment” (2015),
- Member of a research group “Open city: from theoretical concepts to innovative design” supported by the Russian Ministry of education and science,
- Head of the project "Open University".